

CadreControlsecurity&riskmanagement

Cadre Control is quietly effective in the delivery of superior security and risk management services. This is achieved by utilising highly trained and experienced personnel, the best resources available and a strict discipline of standards and policies.

CadreControlmatters

It is our business to reduce the impact of security-related threats to your organisation. These include:

- threats disrupting day to day business
- threats targeting human resources
- threats to property and other assets
- threats affecting your organisation's strategic interests.

Our management team bring together a diverse and extensive range of skills across a broad spectrum of commercial, military and institutional applications. We have a depth of understanding of security that can only be achieved through hands-on experience at senior levels.

Cadre Control acts in an advisory capacity using intrinsic resources and where necessary, drawing on additional skills from a variety of strategic partnerships. As the client, you will benefit from a director-led relationship and a commitment to deliver added value.

Contact us for discrete and confidential advice.

CadreControl services

Risk assessment, contingency and business continuity planning

Cadre Control has a wide range of proven expertise in risk assessment, particularly risks that threaten the overall security of an organisation or its ability to continue operations. Stakeholders want to know how an organisation is prepared to respond to specific threats; forward planning can reduce risk and improve outcomes. Cadre Control personnel have dealt with some of the most pernicious threats currently affecting many organisations including terrorism, organised crime, corruption and fraud.

Crisis response, security management and training

Cadre Control can help protect your organisation from real and perceived threats in all environments and situations. Coordination with insurers, financial managers, the media and advisors within and outside your organisation is critical. Our in-depth experience in security issues and related financial exposure will help you to manage any crisis effectively. Cadre Control can also develop and deliver many types of training to protect your staff and enable them to be effective in a crisis.

Due diligence, personnel screening and litigation support

When you are considering a merger, acquisition or geographic expansion, you need confidential and expert analysis of the security risks facing you. Cadre Control can quickly determine the relevant risk factors, prioritise those that need further investigation and provide complete analysis to decision-makers on a timely basis. Cadre Control is energetic in pursuit of the facts that will help you to make the right decisions in respect of business relationships and the hiring and promotion of personnel. Litigation support services include investigations in support of civil and criminal actions such as funds tracing, fraud and money laundering.

Corporate liability

Directors and senior management of all commercial, government and non-profit organisations may be held personally accountable for non-compliance with legislation such as the Civil Contingency Act or accepted standards and codes of practice. We have the recognised ability to bring together the diverse group of specialists that will enable you to put safeguards and policies in place to protect your management and organisation.

24/7 emergency contact service

We can be the first point of contact for your staff when they need emergency services worldwide, saving valuable time, maintaining confidentiality and making the right resources available. Cadre Control provides a 24/7 emergency contact service which immediately brings in experienced Cadre Control managers to handle crisis response and communications.

CadreControl expertise

Richard Gosling Executive Chairman

Richard worked as a senior research analyst in the Middle East, served as chief executive of one of the first independent British telecommunications companies and helped to pioneer Western business development in China.

Liam Morrissey Managing Director

Liam was Head of Risk Management and Security for the retail giant Tesco in Ireland and was responsible for all aspects of security for the company and its supply chain. He previously served as an officer in the Canadian Armed Forces and later provided security services to Governments and International Corporations worldwide.

George Churchill-Coleman Director

George served as the National Coordinator and Commander of the Anti-terrorist Unit based at Scotland Yard for eight years, responsible for countering the activities of international and domestic terrorist groups. He subsequently commanded the London Fraud Squad, and his international experience includes kidnapping and murder investigations.

Richard Warman Director

Richard is a chartered accountant and formerly a partner with KPMG. He is highly experienced in forensic accounting in both North America and the UK. He has been extensively involved with crisis planning for many major companies and is regularly called to serve as an expert witness.

John Randall Director

John served with the SAS in Africa and Europe and held senior positions in sales and marketing. He founded a successful training company, serving clients that included many FTSE 100 companies.

Viscount Slim Consultant

Lord Slim has held directorships with companies in several industries, including security, banking and trading. He is presently a director of Trailfinders Ltd. Previously in a military career he reached a senior rank in Special Forces. He is an Elected Member of the House of Lords.

Kenneth Carr Consultant

Kenneth, a partner in a widely known London law firm, has extensive fraud and regulatory experience. He is well known for his work in corporate criminal liability and war crimes law. He serves in senior roles in international criminal law organisations and chairs seminars on related topics in various locales, including the European Union, Saudi Arabia and the USA.

Cadre Control Limited Crown House 72 Hammersmith Road London W14 8TH
tel+44 (0)20 7470 5677 fax+44 (0)20 7470 5699
email info@cadrecontrol.com www.cadrecontrol.com